The Namibian Uranium Institute cordially invites you to the following Course:

W201: BASIC PRINCIPLES OF OCCUPATIONAL HYGIENE

Presenter: Mr. P. J. Jacobs (ROH) from SEDULITAS - an approved OHTA Course Provider

All Occupational Hygiene personnel and all persons involved in the Health, Safety and/or Environmental Management of a company, as well as any interested parties are invited to attend.

❖ How to identify potential Health Hazards and their sources in the workplace.
❖ Practical understanding of Occupational Hygiene and the role of Occupational Hygiene members of staff.
❖ Understanding the basics of Exposure Assessment, Measurement Processes and Exposure Control Methods
❖ How to manage and advise on Workplace Health Issues and manage Occupational Hygiene programmes.

Certified OHTA courses presented by SEDULITAS are subject to completion and a written examination as assessed by OHTA, and on passing, OHTA will issue a certificate (note that SAIOH has been accredited by OHTA to issue certificates for the successful completion of this module). Candidates will receive an attendance certificate upon completion of the course, but the written exam with SAIOH costs N$800.- in addition to the course fee.

The W201 course is the foundation for further Intermediate Level courses (ICertOH). The British Occupational Hygiene Society (BOHS) is the awarding and examining body for the intermediate OHTA modules. Intermediate module will commence in 2020. Core subjects of Intermediate modules would be ‘Measurement of Hazardous Substances’, ‘Noise – Measurement and Effects’, ‘Control of Hazardous Substances’ and many more. In order to be permitted to these, the Basic Principles course needs to be completed first.

Upon completion of six modules, an International Certificate can be obtained.

Monday to Friday, 3rd to 7th February 2020, 08h30 - 17h00
